Important Holiday Update Regarding Shipping and Order Processing

Given anticipated postal service delays related to the holiday season, we are temporarily extending the standard shipping window from 7 days to 10 days. You may continue to receive standard order communications (including shipment reminders); however, this shipping update will remain in place until postal service demands stabilize.

- To Sellers: If you expect additional delays or need more time, please message your buyers from the order details page. Please contact Poshmark Support if you need further help in shipping your orders.
- To Buyers: We appreciate your patience as we all work together during this busy holiday season to adjust to these temporary shipping delays.
- Posh Authenticate: Due to increased volumes during the holiday season, our authentication processing times have extended beyond the normal 1-3 business days. Please allow up to 7 business days from when we receive your shipment to verify your order.
